ULowell Faces Massive Housing Shortage

With a waiting list of approximately 300 students seeking dormitory rooms at present, the housing office, under the direction of Dean Ellen Duggan, is understandably facing a major crisis. Although the figures have dropped considerably since midsummer, when the waiting list saw a peak of nearly 600 students, the outlook remains grim. Many of the students, especially those whose names appear low on the waiting list, will not be placed in any of the University's six dormitories until the start of second semester, when it is expected that there will be enough vacancies to accommodate those students. As for the more fortunate students who find their names at the top of the list, having sent their $50.00 deposit in to the University early, the outlook is better.

At present the Dean and her small staff of four are held at a standstill. Due to the fact that many students fail to notify the University that they will not be utilizing the rooms to which they have been assigned, the housing office will not be able to reassign rooms until they can be certain that the beds are truly available. As soon as this verification is made students will be contacted as to their new room assignments. The process of placing new students is expected to begin early next week.

There may be little that can be done to remedy this year's housing problem but provisions are already being made to prevent this kind of thing from happening in the future. A Housing Committee, headed by Dr. McGowen has already been formed. The committee will meet for the first time on September 18 to discuss alternative solutions to the housing problem.

Credit should also be given to the housing office for their highly successful efforts to place students in off-campus housing and to the community for responding so enormously to the University's radio and newspaper requests for information on available housing in the area.

Also it should be noted that any questions involving housing should be directed to the attention of Dean Duggan and the Housing Office located in Cumnock Hall.

Nominations for Student Court Justices will be open soon. Information can be obtained in the S.I.C. on North Campus and at the Student Senate office in the S.U.B. on South Campus starting Monday Sept. 17. For more information get in touch with Lynne Travers, Box 5116-South.

Fight Causes TKE Open Parties Cancelled

The first open fraternity party of the semester was marred by a free-for-all outside TKE House last Friday. Two TKE brothers were badly bruised in the scuffle which had to be broken up by the police.

The main reason for the trouble was the unexpected size of the crowd, which formed two hours after the party began. A crowd continued to gather outside until 10:30 when TKE officials estimated over 200 people present outside. A few of the students outside began loitering around on adjacent properties, urinating on lawns, and throwing bottles at neighbors.

The fight was touched off by students trying to crawl in the windows. When one student was confronted by a brother on patrol, a friend of the student, who was inside, began shouting at the brother. A second brother stepped in to quiet him down; punches were thrown; and the fight was on. Eventually, most of the over 500 people present inside and outside the fraternity house began either fighting or trying to break up fights. But, after being notified by TKE officials, the police sent 7 cruisers to the scene and broke up the fight within a few minutes.

One TKE member summed up the fraternity house's situation: "We did the best we could. We had patrols going up and down the block but they couldn't break up the groups of kids. Inside, we checked university ID's and driver's licenses. We tried to guard all the windows but we just didn't have the personnel."

This incident has forced TKE officials to cancel all open parties for the rest of the semester and possibly next semester as well. Other fraternities may follow in similar fashion due to the same problems. In addition, the vice squad, the licensing board, and Dean King's office are looking into the incident.

Many students may object to this policy change, but several TKE members think that closed parties are the only answer since "the students have abused their rights at the open parties. We try to give them a good time while we get some publicity, but we don't want this kind of attention."

A turnaround was built over the summer for the campus shuttle bus in order to save shuttle time and give students a more efficient service. But opinion is mixed about this latest University innovation. As one student put it, "It stinks because in the winter, there's no place to take shelter. Plus it's a lot further from classes on South than the old stop... unless you are a music major."

Volunteer Opportunities

In anticipation of our 2nd Annual Volunteer Fair, to be held SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1979, from 10 AM to 5 PM at the Chelmsford Mall, G.L.O.V.E. (Greater Lowell Opportunities for Volunteer Experience) would like to introduce all potential volunteers in the Greater Lowell area to its clearinghouse services. Located on the 3rd floor of the Lowell City Library, G.L.O.V.E. has had Tuesday morning office hours, 10 to noon, through the summer. Beginning the week of September 10, our staff, CoDirectors Ellen Kunkel and Edna Lambert, will be available Mon., Tues., Wed., from 10 to noon. Call 454-8821, X284 for an appointment to look at the varied volunteer situations available in the Greater Lowell area. Some ongoing opportunities are listed below.

Stand Up and Be Counted

Last semester, we did not fare well in the Massachusetts political arena. The drinking age was raised, the university budget was cut, and tuition raises were approved through the 1981-82 academic year.

But the most unfortunate part of this situation is that we got exactly what we deserved.

Back in November, many of us had misgivings about Democratic candidate Ed King, the major force behind the new laws. But, less than one-quarter of the eligible voters 21 or under heeded their premonitions and bothered to vote. And, of those who did vote, a majority voted for King.

Then, when the drinking bill came up before the legislature, there was a chance of holding the drinking age at 18 for restaurant consumption if enough of us lobbied for it. But only 200 students, less than 1/2% of the Mass. college population, showed up at the State House.

When the budget cuts came up before the legislature, the same thing happened.

This year, there is more bleak news from the State House. King still wants the drinking age raised to 21 and is considering introducing a motion to raise the driving age. Further university budget cuts and a reorganization of the state's public college system are also being considered...

We can no longer afford to be a silent minority. The Connector staff and the university's political organizations will pass along news concerning progress of these bills through the legislature, but all of us must let ourselves be heard by participating in protests and writing letters to our representatives.

We may not win the fight, but we cannot afford not to fight.

—Robert Weisman

Attention Photographers

The Connector is now having a "photo of the week" contest. All students are eligible. The photograph should be a recent, university-related picture of anything that is amusing, interesting, weird, informative, or attentive. The photo must be black and white, any size up to 5x7, and have the photographer's name and box number on the back. Winning photos will be published on the front page of each issue. Photographs can be submitted at the Connector office during hours, or in the North Campus mailroom. The deadline is the same as for articles: 12:00 Monday. Give it a try! You never know.

All Clubs

To All Clubs and Service Organizations:

Information sheets pertaining to office holders and advisors were given out to all club and service organizations at the end of last year. Most of these forms have been returned to Dean King's office, however, some are missing. If you know that your club never received a form, or if you're not sure, please contact Lynne Travers, Box 5116-South. Non-compliance can result in a delay of official recognition and/or funds.

About The Connector

How to submit copy...

All copy must be typed and must include the name and box # of the submitter. Copy may be dropped off at the window of either North or South mailrooms.

Classifieds: Personals, want ads, for sale, lost and found, and Book Exchange copy must be typed one side only of a 3x5 index card, with the name and box # of the submitter on the back.

Calendar: To have an event listed in the Connector Calendar, it must be typed in this order on a 3x5 index card:

Date

Time

Event

Place

Up to 30 words of description of the event

An event will be listed no earlier than 2 weeks before the actual date. Submitter and box # must be written on the back of each submitted listing.

Articles: All articles, including Letters to the Editor, BullPen essays, reviews, and news must be typed on 8 1/2 x 11 inch paper, with a 3-inch margin on the top of the first page, 1 1/2-inch margins on the tops of all additional pages, and one-inch side and bottom margins on all pages. Again, submitter's name and box # must be included even if the name is not to appear in the newspaper. (In this case please write "Delete Author" at the end of the article.)

Deadlines: There is a strict deadline of the Monday before the desired Thursday issue, at 12:00 noon in the North Campus mailroom. If copy is submitted in the South Campus mailroom please realize it will not reach the North Campus mailroom (where the Connector box # is located) until a few hours later. Any copy received after the deadline will be held for the next week's issue. This affects the whole university including all students, faculty, and administration.

Ads: If you would like to submit a display ad for your University-recognized organization's event, the ad must be photo-ready — meaning set up exactly as it is to appear, with all the lettering or drawing done in pen or marker. The Connector has special type available for ads, but one must order this type at least a week in advance. Only a limited amount of space is available for these free ads, so submit them early.

News Briefs....

David Hits East Coast

Hurricane David swept up the East Coast last week, packing heavy rains and winds up to 90 m.p.h. The storm, which claimed the lives of over 1000 persons in the Caribbean, had lost much of its original power by the time it reached Florida. However, David was responsible for 16 U.S. deaths as well as millions of dollars of damage from the Carolinas to Florida's Gold Coast.

In other domestic news, the stock market plunged last week as the government announced that, in August, the unemployment rate jumped to 6% (the highest in over a year), while wholesale prices rose by 1.2%, an annual rate of 14%. This combination of double-digit inflation and recession could result in an economic dip worse than the one in 1976 when unemployment broke the 10% mark.

Meanwhile, Senator Ted Kennedy had a major obstacle to his possible candidacy for next year's presidential race removed when both Rose Kennedy, his mother, and Joan Kennedy, his wife, gave the senator the go-ahead to run. Later last week, Kennedy said that he will announce his final decision of whether or not to enter the race before Thanksgiving.

In world affairs, President Carter said that the presence of a Soviet combat brigade in Cuba is "not acceptable to the U.S." He also warned that this situation could adversely effect U.S.-Soviet relations. But Carter discouraged overreaction, saying, "This is a time for firm diplomacy, not panic and not exaggeration."

But repercussions were already being felt in the U.S. as Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Frank Church insisted that the SALT II treaty would not be ratified as long as Soviet troops remained in Cuba. Other politicians, including former President Gerald Ford, criticized Carter's policy of inaction in response to the Soviet threat.

Another battle took place in Cuba last week as Cuba's Fidel Castro and Yugoslavia's President Tito were at odds during the Summit of Nonaligned Nations in Havana. Castro opened the summit by denouncing U.S. policy in the Mideast and urged the non-aligned nations to align with Russia. However, Tito spearheaded a drive to moderate Cuban-drafted legislation which took several pro-Soviet views. Tito also encouraged the maintenance of neutrality by the nonaligned nations during disputes between the superpowers.

Finally, the New England Patriots lost to Pittsburgh last Monday, but the big news was the return of Darryl Stingley to Boston for the first time since his tragic collision with Jack Tatum in August of last year. Stingley, who was greeted with a seven-minute standing ovation during the game, was also named by Patriots' owner Billy Sullivan as Executive Director of Player Personnel.

Dear Sophomores

Welcome back, and we hope you all had an enjoyable, successful summer. Being under twenty ourselves, we understand the situation that the under twenty student faces. Realizing the frustrations that you are encountering, we are currently planning activities for the university at large, and especially for the sophomore class. We are hoping to sponsor many activities and we need your help. Any suggestions will be greatly appreciated. Please feel free to contact one of us.

Dear Editor:

The devastation of Hurricane David in the Dominican Republic... the continuing human misery of the "Boat People" in Southeast Asia... recent civil wars in Nicaragua and Uganda... and the looming famine in northeast India prompts this letter.

CARE is involved in each of these "disasters," and vital and effective CARE aid is reaching many hundreds of thousands of people in this time of intense human misery.

The people CARE reaches are those who simply cannot make it without outside help. Their lives were filled with "normal" misery before war or wind or water or famine took away what little they had.

CARE has a proud history of helping the poorest of the poor all around the world, and New Englanders have always shown a special generosity in their support of CARE.

Current world conditions have caused CARE to establish several "special" funds to help us provide food, shelter, tools, or medical aid to these masses of people in need.

We urge all concerned New Englanders to make a generous donation to CARE during this critical time, and if you have a special concern then just direct your gift to "Hurricane Relief" or "Boat People" or "War Relief" or "Famine Fund."

Make check or money order contributions payable to — CARE — and send to CARE, 581 Boylston Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02116.

CARE is grateful for this outstanding support which New Englanders always provide.

Sincerely,
Leon M. Blum
New England Director of CARE

Upcoming Anti Nuke Rally Comes To The Big Apple

Phasing out and shutting down nuclear power plants will be the rallying point for a demonstration to be held in New York City on Sunday, Sept. 23. Sponsored by a coalition of citizen and student groups throughout the East, the action will be a follow-up to the highly successful rally in Washington last May which drew over 100,000 people.

Speakers at the Sept. 23 rally, to be held at the Battery Park City Landfill (next to the World Trade Center) in New York City beginning at 11 a.m., will document the extraordinary economic costs of nuclear power in light of available alternatives, as well as the dangers posed by nuclear plants to our health, safety, and environment.

The Sept. 23 demonstration will follow four nights of safe energy benefit concerts at Madison Square Garden, being held to raise funds for local anti-nuclear groups throughout the country. Performers from these concerts, such as Jackson Browne, Gil Scott-Heron, Graham Nash, Bonnie Raitt, and John Hall will appear at the rally. The concerts, which are nearly sold out, are being sponsored by Musicians United for Safe Energy (MUSE), a group of nationally-known musicians who are seeking to tap the widespread opposition within the entertainment industry to nuclear power.

According to rally sponsors, "the demonstration is but one of a growing number of rallies, teach-ins, and lobbying campaigns around the country designed to dramatize the availability of safe and renewable energy alternatives and the potential for huge savings from increased energy conservation."

"It is appropriate that the rally is being held near the World Trade Center, one of the most energy inefficient and wasteful buildings ever conceived and built," they added.

Busses will be leaving from Lowell Sunday morning and returning before midnight. Tickets for transportation can be purchased for $10.00 from the MASS PIRG Committee for Safe Energy at their office at Room 359 S.U.B. South.

For more information, contact MASS PIRG at 458-2100.

Book Review A Look into Lowell's Past

Call The Darkness Light, by Nancy Zaroulis. Doubleday. 560 pp. $14.00.

"Lowell, the prototype for all the great waterpowered centers of New England, remains the classic mill city. Encircled by a polluted river, sliced by idle railroad tracks and stagnant canals, scarred by parking lots marking the sites of demolished mills and blighted by virulent slums, the city has been crumbling for decades. Yet fragments of an earlier age of pride and prosperity can still be found..." (Steve Dunwell, The Run of the Mill, 1978).

During the early 1800's, Henry Cabot Lowell founded a city which in a few years would be known all over the world. Lowell became a model city built around its mills. The mills attracted people from all over. Wages were considered good and factory conditions were supposed to be among the best in the world. People from England flocked to Lowell to see what made it run so well. To outsiders, Lowell was a Garden of Eden. It was a hope at the far end of the rainbow.

Call The Darkness Light, by Nancy Zaroulis, was a story about a young woman's fight for survival in nineteenth century Lowell. The story began when a 16 year old girl came to Lowell following the death of her father. After spending several months with the family of a wealthy mill supervisor, she found herself in the real world, working in a mill.

During Lowell's birth and adolescent years as a mill city, the factories were new and the equipment was in fine working condition. Most of the employees worked 14 hours a day, 6 days a week. If a girl was paid five or six dollars for a seventy-two hour week, it was considered fairly good. The woman usually lived in company boarding houses in which food and sleeping quarters were provided for about $1.50 a week.

A common practice mentioned in this book was a tool the mill owners or supervisors used, known as the "iron" (worker) caused any problems or was an unsatisfactory worker she probably would be blacklisted. Her name would be sent to all the mills in New England and she would not be able to work at any of those mills. Since the girls were weary of the leverage a mill owner had, they usually suppressed any ideas of rebellion or forming a labor union.

As Lowell continued to grow, so did its flow of immigrants, especially the Irish. When these immigrants arrived in the United States they usually had no money, so they were willing to work anywhere. The mill owners took advantage of this situation and tried to get these immigrants to work in their mills. They cut wages and increased the work load. If present workers were dissatisfied with these new rules they could quit. The mill people didn't care because they knew the immigrants would work there at even lower wages.

Mill girls in the nineteenth century were not treated as women. They had one job to do in the supervisor's mind, to produce. They were treated as machines. The mills were purposely kept very warm and humid, conditions necessary for ideal textile production. Sometimes women were responsible for as many as three or four looms. This responsibility coupled with the awful condition of the air and the prospects of fourteen hours of grueling work must have made it difficult for one to maintain their sanity or composure. If a girl got her hair caught in a machine or even lost a limb or her life, the mill supervisor would be furious because production would have to be stopped, and time would be lost.

The title of this book was misleading. It gave the reader the impression that there was hope for the plight of the mill girl. In the story presented in the book, it was probably rightfully so. But in the long run, there was very little to look forward to. Many women ended up spending their lives in the mills. Working in a mill was hell, and these girls soon found out that Lowell was not the ideal city after all. The packaging was a little different, but the product was basically the same. On the financial side, Lowell was extremely successful. The mills produced huge quantities of textiles while paying relatively low wages. Lowell was a huge machine which worked with precision and intensity. It seemed for a while that it could do no wrong. But something got caught in one of the gears of Lowell's great textile machine. For Lowell lost its image as the ideal mill city many years ago.

Call The Darkness Light is a very interesting book. It makes one think beyond the pages between its covers. Although it does not dwell on life in a mill city as much as one would think it would, it does indeed make the reader think. It brings back an era that most have forgotten. Or is it that they really do not want to remember?

The Driving Exam

Summer vacation is the one time of the year when I can put my mind "on hold," forget everything, get some rest, and then get into some serious partying. During this past summer, however, a friend actually got me to break cerebral inactivity, sometime around mid-June, in order to think about the sometimes nonsensical use of tests in general and open-book driving exams in particular. This sudden opposition to the atrophy of my last remaining brain cells was quite a shock to my entire system. Somehow, I survived...contrary to popular belief.

This friend had just moved out of our wonderful state to be closer to his new job and was working on an open-book driving exam in order to get his new operator's license for that state. Out of just under one hundred questions, he had to answer 33 and get 30 of those correct. A blind midget could pass such a test (apologies to those blind midgets who were offended by that last statement).

After he had completed the exam, he went back and began to answer some of the more painfully obvious questions in a Benjamin Franklin Pierce sort of style. This was about the time that I entered the scene. I admit that he came up with most of the answers, but I thought I handled myself pretty well...considering my condition (atrophied brain cells).

Here now are my choices for the Top 20 Silly Questions—answers included:

1. If, when driving on a freeway or toll road, you miss your exit, you should get out and walk.
2. What is the penalty for knowingly operating a motor vehicle while in possession of a controlled drug? Death by hanging.

Moonstone Staff Meeting and Elections

The staff of "MOONSTONE" would like to welcome everyone back for another year at the University of Lowell. For those newcomers who haven't heard of us, we are the staff of the one and only, Art and Literary magazine on both campuses.

Last year's effort proved to be a tremendous success, and in order to keep that tradition rolling we need a constant input of new ideas and innovations. That means new minds and new bodies. For this reason we would like to invite any and all to our first major staff meeting on Monday, September 17, at 11:00 in the MOONSTONE office (2nd Floor S.U.B.). We will be holding elections for club officers and designating staff positions to all those who are willing to make a commitment. We would like to extend a special invitation to all freshmen and transfer students who would like to get involved on campus. Copies of last year's magazine are still available in the MOONSTONE office. Pick one up.

Thanks

The staff of MOONSTONE

Pershing Rifles

Squadron N-12
University of Lowell

Squadron N-12 of the National Society of Pershing Rifles invites you to attend our Smoker on Monday, September 17 at 8:00 P.M. in room S-321, Southwick Hall. At the Smoker a description of the unit will be given and an overview of some of its activities. The members of the Squadron will be on hand to answer any of your questions concerning the unit, and if you are interested in joining, will tell you about our training program. The training program will begin this year on September 22.

The best way to understand what Pershing Rifles is really about is to understand its founder, General John J. Pershing. He was a sensitive, sympathetic man. His ambition and integrity were felt by all those who served with him. He felt that ROTC units needed the same type of professionalism that West Point cadets had. So, in 1894 he formed Company A at the University of Nebraska. He felt that through drilling ROTC cadets could learn to think on their feet and obtain the discipline so necessary to a professional.

Today in Squadron N-12 we try to carry on in the tradition of General Pershing. But Pershing Rifles is not just a drill team. It is a national military organization with thousands of members all over the United States. There are drill teams and official offices to be held, all requiring precision and teamwork. There is also a social aspect to P/R. There are stag parties, beach parties, and barbecues. There are sporting events and many other activities where all the members get together for a good time.

To become a member all that is required is that you be at the university. You do not have to be in ROTC. Then you go through a training period of several weeks. During this time you will learn the meaning of pride, stamina, and unity. These elements are so essential on the drill floor when we go into competition.

At the end of this training period you will be accepted into the National Society of Pershing Rifles at a formal Cord Dance where you will receive your fourragere. At that moment when the cord is put on your shoulder you really know what it means to be a Pershing Rifleman.

If you have any questions stop in and see us in our day lounge.

The Athletic Department is seeking the services of a student to work 15-20 hours a week, from 3:30 to 5:30, Monday through Friday. Work study rates will be paid.

Interested students are requested to call Dr. Ciszek at the Athletic Department, extension 2370.

Administrators, faculty, and staff and all supporters of the Athletic program of the University are reminded that the Annual Athletic Scholarship Dinner Dance will be held on Saturday, October 13, 1979 at 6:00 PM at the Spear House. The newly elected members of the Athletic Hall of Fame will also be inducted during official ceremonies on that evening.

Tickets are $15.00 each and may be secured from one of sixty individuals on campus, who have tickets, or by contacting the Athletic Office in the Costello Gymnasium (Ext. 2370).

Dr. Everett Olsen will serve as toastmaster for the evening's festivities.

INTRAMURAL ACTIVITIES

INTRAMURAL PROGRAM CONTINUES

ELIGIBILITY RULES

The basic purpose of the eligibility rules is to provide an equitable program for University of Lowell students. The rules are not specifically designed with the intent to "expose" and "punish" violators. It is hoped that this negative procedure will be unnecessary. The rules have been drawn as a guide to enjoyable participation. To apply a positive approach it is essential for every participant to abide by these rules and to enlist the support of all other members of his team. The final result will be a better intramural program for all students.

1. It is not possible for the intramural office to check the eligibility of men or women competing. Each player is responsible for his/her own eligibility and each team unit manager is responsible for his/her own unit members. Any doubt about the eligibility of a player should be referred to the intramural office for a ruling. Teams may not play ineligible men/women even by mutual agreement of both team managers and the other players in the contest.

2. In order for a student to participate in the intramural program, a student must be considered a full-time student carrying a minimum number of undergraduate or graduate hours, and paying a student activity fee.

3. Students who are barred from any intercollegiate sport because of professionalism are barred from the same sport, or related sport, in the intramural program. For example, a professional baseball player will not be able to play intramural softball.

4. A player competing under an assumed name will be barred from intramural competition for the calendar year. Any team using an ineligible player shall forfeit all games in which the ineligible player participated. He may be reinstated only after favorable action of the intramural department.

5. Graduate students are eligible for participation, subject to the general rules of eligibility.

6. All students starting competition in any sport representing any unit must retain that same affiliation until the sport is completed.

7. A team shall forfeit any protested contest in which it uses an ineligible player.

8. ELIGIBILITY-VARSITY AND JUNIOR VARSITY ATHLETES—Any student who has played in a varsity or junior varsity game or match will be ineligible to participate in that related intramural sport for the remainder of that season.

9. Any student who wishes to compete in intramural activities but has no team affiliation will be placed on a team immediately upon notification to the intramural office of his/her intention.

FORFEITS

1. If a team or contestants fails to report to the scheduled place within ten minutes after the scheduled time for a contest, the official may declare the contest forfeited to the opponent. If both teams or individuals fail to be ready, both will be charged with a forfeit. To obtain a contest victory by forfeit, the full lineup must be present and ready to play.

2. In team sports, the team must have at least a minimum of one less than the official number of players ready to play at the scheduled time.

3. A team shall forfeit any contest in which it uses an ineligible player or a player who participates under an assumed name.

4. After a team or individual forfeits two contests in a sport, or if any team should voluntarily drop out of scheduled competition, their remaining contests, as well as those already played, will be withdrawn from the league standings. The team involved will lose all points granted for that sport.

OFFICIALS

No intramural program can be conducted on a successful level without the services of student officials. Students interested in becoming sports officials should contact the intramural office. Officials for team games and meets will be furnished by the intramural department. For competition in individual sports (paddleball, tennis, etc.) the contestants are responsible for officiating their own matches.

PLAYER—COACH—SPECTATOR CONDUCT

A player or coach ejected from any game for any reason shall also be prohibited from playing or coaching his team in their next regularly scheduled game in that sport. Any player, coach, or spectator physically abusing an intramural official will be automatically and indefinitely suspended from further participation in any capacity in the Intramural Sports Program for the remainder of that school year.

PROTESTS

1. All protests must be made in writing and presented to the intramural office within 24 hours after the contest in question. A duplicate copy of the protest must be sent to the contest opponent.

2. No protest will be accepted for consideration unless it is registered with the responsible official in charge of the contest at the time the question occurs. Do not wait until the contest is completed to register a protest.

3. The captain or team manager of the protesting team is required to make the protest to the official in charge of the contest at the time the question is raised. The official is responsible for noting the game situation so that the protest is sustained. Matters involving an official's judgement are not a basis for protest. Please restrict protests for matters of rule interpretations or eligibility.

4. Both contestants and the officials in charge shall be permitted to present their version of the case before a decision is made. Decisions will be made by the intramural director.

5. Games in which a protest is upheld will be replayed from the beginning of the nearest preceding division of the game unless specific details of the prompting incident are not available. A protest involving eligibility should not be made during the game, but must comply with rule 1. In any contest, the use of an ineligible player constitutes a forfeit.

6. In the event of a disagreement between individuals in matches and without an official, a rematch will be scheduled and an official assigned by the intramural director.

Intramural Football & Softball

Schedules will be available to Team Captains and Managers, Tuesday, September 18th at the Intramural office, Room 304, Costello Gym. League to begin Wednesday, September 19th.

Intramural Tennis

Tennis pairings will be posted at the rear entrance of the Costello Gymnasium September 26 and The Connector issue September 28th.

It is the responsibility of the participants to communicate with one another and set up match dates and times. Participants will play best 2 out of 3 sets.

- 1st Round - must be played by October 6.
- 2nd Round - must be played by October 13.
- 3rd Round - must be played by October 29.
- 4th Round - must be played by November 3.
- 5th Round - must be played by November 10.

Failure to play the match or turn in scores by Round ending dates will result in participant(s) forfeiting.

All results must be turned in by match winner to the Issue room (Costello Gym). Ask attendant for tennis result sheet.
